HAVE YOU EVER GONE to a flea market, seen a vintage piece and thought it would look great as something else? Repurposing old furniture has become an art form that is easy, practical and planet friendly.

Use your imagination when considering what could be transformed into something new, Carol Jandreau, owner of The Roseberry Cottage, says. Any type of furniture is possible to reinvent. For example, Carol turned two vintage doors into new pieces of furniture: a china cupboard made from a 12-pane glass door; and the Savannah, a multipurpose shelving unit.

Last year, Carol and her husband, Phil, designed a
